

As a friend of Offpat, you are cordially invited to confirm you will come to the World laughter day event
“ROCPOSL”

We were born to laugh.
Come claim your birthright
on World Laughter Day
Sunday May 2nd 2010.

This year, like last, will take the form of outdoor, guided, laughing in a uniquely suited environment - a grassy hollow on Minchinhampton Common, Nr Stroud. This famous National trust area of outstanding beauty is a favourite haunt for those who search the night skies, fly kites in the day time and smile at the wide open space. Weather alert - In the event of rain we will travel to the event room at the Old Swan in convoy - leaving the common car park at 5.00p.m. at the latest.

The day will involve rolling on the common pissing ourselves laughing (ROCPOSL) and strictly enforced general merriment... and it all begins at 5.00p.m. The common laughter event ends at 6.00 with a drink in the nearby Old Lodge. Social chat and plans to conquer the world with laughter can be hatched straight after that...

The plan is for a strictly limited group of about twenty people to meet at the Ice cream van (excellent local ice cream) on the google map just here, look for the flag. <http://tinyurl.com/dz74hp> - make a day of it and fly a kite or study the skylarks for your own good heart health, and if not that, then to help save humanity from a fate worse than frowning... be there, at 5.00 p.m. - its more fun than a flash mob, more interesting than Brad Pitt's diary, more full of variety than a carrot shape catalogue, and 1,000,000 times more likely to happen and help you than winning the lottery.

I have invited some 18 local people, some spaces remain...

so don't be the sad wallflower. (P.S. I have no idea who this is↑)

Please reply to: patrick@smileofthedecade.co.uk to confirm your place.